

Jungers seeks clerk post

By Nettie Jungers
Candidate for Lewis County Clerk

Hello. My name is Nettie Jungers (pronounced Youngers) and I am a candidate for Lewis County Clerk.

I have worked with the Superior Court for many years. I have 18-1/2 years experience as a deputy clerk in the court's Juvenile Division. During the years I was a supervisor at Juvenile Court, I maintained a good working relationship with the public, my co-workers, the legal community and many other agencies.

Nettie Jungers

I enjoy the challenges of helping others to understand our justice system and trying to simplify procedures whenever possible to make the court process easier for all.

Currently, I work for the county commissioners as an assistant administrator. My primary duties in that job are to monitor several budgets, to assist commissioners with budgeting and to create legally sufficient resolutions and other documents. I also serve as secretary for the Veteran's Assistance Board.

My goal is to continue efforts to improve our court system by providing good, quality service through better technology and by providing wider understanding of how our court process works.

Communication with the citizens who come in contact with the courts, either by choice or circumstance, is just as important as the work we do with lawyers. I want as many people as possible to feel they are served by a capable and understanding staff and a county clerk who cares. That's me!

Currently, I am a member of the High Noon Sertoma, Winlock Lioness Club and Egg Day Committee. I am chairman of the county employee's United Way Campaign, and more.

In the past, I have served as president of the Lewis County and Washington State Legal Secretaries Associations. I was honored to be selected as Legal Secretary of the Year by the state association, and later received the same honor at local level.

My past experience also includes service on the Business Education Advisory Board at Centralia College for several years. I assisted with class development for programs designed to prepare students to enter the business world.

Education is very important to me. During my working years have continued my education through classes at community colleges, the Criminal Justice Training Academy and local management seminars.

I look forward to serving the public well. I know I can do a good job for all of you as your Lewis County Clerk.

Pinkerton well versed in duties of clerk's office

By Diane Pinkerton
Candidate for Lewis County Clerk

I am presently chief deputy in the clerk's office and a candidate for Lewis County Clerk.

I was appointed chief deputy clerk in 1990 and am well versed in all aspects of the office, including the clerk's position itself.

Previously, I served as record's supervisor for the Lewis County Sheriff's Office from 1985 through 1990. In that position, I was responsible for the day-to-day operation of the records division. I supervised, trained and evaluated four record clerks. I prepared and submitted budget items to the administration.

In 1989, I was selected Lewis County Sheriff's Service Bureau employee of the year. I was employed as a records clerk at the sheriff's office from 1982 until 1985.

I have 22 years of dedicated service with Lewis County, including service as secretary/bookkeeper for the Lewis County Weed Control Board.

I received a Certificate of Proficiency/Paralegal from Centralia College in 1988, and have successfully completed numerous courses in supervision, budgeting and accounting.

My education, years of experience in many areas of the public sector, and ability to work with people have prepared me well for the Lewis County Clerk's position.

If elected, I will pursue all options that will make the clerk's office more accessible to the public. I will bring modern computer technology to the courtrooms.

I believe in the Democratic Party's basic philosophy that the government should be both more responsible for those it serves, and more accountable to the taxpayers who pay for it.

It is up to us

By Bob Guenther, Lewis County Chair

Hello fellow Democrats. On behalf of the Central Committee, I would like to thank all those folks who helped to make the auction a successful event. The funds are a great help. Now we can write our friends, the Carpenter's union, a check for the full year's rent on the office.

It is common knowledge that the most important part of our committee is the Precinct Committee Officers (PCOs) and YOU that receive this newsletter. In order for the Democratic party to get the message out you folks will play the most important role.

We need a team effort in order to identify the voters in this county. I hope that all PCOs in the county will attend the county convention April 18 at the courthouse in Chehalis. At that time, you will receive your packets for this most important project. The PCOs will need lots of help, and if your precinct is without an appointed PCO we will be using our mailing list for help in that precinct.

I hope that everyone will recognize just how much work the project is going to take, and respond. In each precinct, the PCO should have at least two people helping them in the effort to identify voters. The central committee now has the technical equipment to make this work meaningful and useful in the future.

I know there a lot of folks who receive this newsletter that would be willing to help accomplish this project. Now is the time to step up and make a difference in the Lewis County Democratic Party.

As Chair of the Lewis County Democratic Central Committee, I am asking for help with this project, or one of the campaigns. Please call and let us know if you are willing to help. I am convinced that we can make a difference in our government. It is up to us. Telephone 330-5006, FAX 330-5066 or e-mail to: democrats@localaccess.com.

Doors shift, Simpsons moving

The March 23 meeting of the Lewis County Democratic Central Committee gave opportunity to open a new door and change the position of an old one.

The new door opening was the introduction of Latino issues by guest speaker Ann Fischel of Evergreen State College. Ann and Judith Aguilar, who works at Centralia College, shared and received information relating to the working and living conditions of the Latino community. Plans for further discussion were put in place.

The change in position of the old door - John and Rosalie Simpson are moving to Seattle real soon. The door is not closed, however, as John will be doing volunteer work in the state headquarters and has promised not to forget Lewis County. We know we will not forget John and Rosalie and all their hard work.

Baird visits Lewis County

By Jan Leth, Lewis County Coordinator

Third Congressional District candidate Brian Baird visited Centralia, Ethel, Napavine, Pe Ell and Morton on March 27 during a day-long swing through the district.

In Centralia, he met with Tom Reber, city manager, and toured the downtown businesses. While in Morton, he exchanged information with citizens at the local cedar 2 by 4 mill, talked to local business owners and met with April Doolittle at the new Centralia College satellite campus.

Those who are attending the April 18 Lewis County Democratic Convention in Chehalis will get a chance to greet Brian as he drops in to the event.

On Friday, April 24, Baird will make a second visit to East Lewis County. He plans to visit a "Visions" class at White Pass High School, a White Pass Coalition meeting at the Randle Fire Hall, and ride the Lewis Mountain Highway Transit. For information on Baird's visit, contact Doug Hayden, executive director of the White Pass Community Center (360-497-5271).

Also, plan to have breakfast with Brian Baird at Borst Park in Centralia on Saturday, May 2, from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. Pancakes, ham, eggs, juice and coffee will be served. Come and plan to bring your family and friends to this fun event to enjoy good food and meet the candidate who will represent you in Congress.

If you would like to help with Brian's breakfast, or donate food items, telephone me (Jan Leth) at 360-736-5610. We could use some help to set up, serve, cook and clean up.

Hayden defines goals of candidacy

By Doug Hayden

Candidate for Lewis County Commissioner

I awoke this morning to a quiet peacefulness of blue sky, birds singing, daffodils and alders awakening to spring. I reflected on how best to let you know who I am and why I am running for Lewis County Commissioner from the Third District.

Do I push all the right buttons and fire everyone up? Do I tell you what you want to hear to garner each vote? I began to think about the movie my wife, Annette Yanisch, and I saw at the local Mossyrock G Theater last night - Titanic.

It's metaphors speak to all of us. Who is at the helm, on watch, for us in Lewis County? And who are they watching out for? Are they telling us just what they think we want to hear? Which class will we and our children be relegated to? Are we allowed to discuss our options, our course? Are we told everything is OK, yet still have a sinking feeling?

The goal I've set for my campaign is to preserve and enhance the quality of life in Lewis County through government leadership, service, education and administration.

I believe leadership starts with a vision. I would like to take you on a short tour of my vision for Lewis County.

I see the oldest county in our state refreshed and redirected as wealthy local bread basket of produce, services and ideas. A county where families are healthy and productive. Where family wage jobs are the norm. Where families live within their means.

Doug Hayden

Where more time is spent reading to our children, discussing current issues, or gardening than watching television. Where our seniors are encouraged to pass their knowledge of life on to our next generation.

Where our responsibilities to our families and communities are of equal standing in all discussions of our rights. Where we ask ourselves what have I contributed to my community today to make tomorrow a better place? Where, having protected and preserved our forests, farms and fisheries, they add to our rural quality of life and commerce and provide food, clothing and shelter for our citizens.

Where government encourages the benefits of education to itself and its citizens. Where common sense is valued and encouraged.

Where government listens to the needs of all its citizens and works with them to meet those needs. Where administration is professional, nonpartisan, and predicated on achieving prompt, cost-effective public service. Where diverse political discussions are encouraged, respected and practiced by our citizens, leaders and media.

Where economic renewal is based on sustainable development concepts rooted in the tradition of stewardship - the careful, economical, long-term management of land, community and resources. Where corporate responsibility is expected and received. Where balance is an integral part of all of our daily experience.

I believe this vision of our future is not only possible but necessary. If you are willing to help make this vision a reality, give me a call at 360-985-7115, or e-mail to hayden@myhome.net or write to: Campaign to Elect Doug Hayden Commissioner 3rd District, P.O. Box 62, Cinebar, WA 98533.

3rd District campaign is ours

By Brian Baird

Candidate for 3rd Congressional District

An incident on the eve of the Raymond Crab feed several weeks ago reminded me why I am running for Congress.

After a long and eventful day meeting city leaders in Aberdeen and fishermen in Westport, I wearily traveled to the IAM Hall in Raymond to see how final preparations were coming along.

Outside the weather was cold, damp and gloomy. But as I made the final turn into the parking lot the hall seemed to bustle and glow with life.

The sensation that washed over me was like coming home after a long time away. The scent of boiling sausage hung in the air. Dozens of smiling faces greeted me as if I was family.

Then I was promptly told to roll up my sleeves, wash my hands and mix enough potato salad to feed an army.

Which brings me to my point. The race for the Third District isn't my campaign. It is our campaign. That is something we shouldn't forget.

In the next several months, there will be lots of fundraising, letter writing and telephoning to do. Then the campaign will really heat up. We all need each other's support. From the county chair to the potato salad mixer, no task goes unappreciated.

Just this week I had a wonderful time traveling through Lewis

County with Jan Leth and Bob Guenther. Bob showed us some of his stomping grounds in Morton and Onalaska and I had a chance to meet some of the workers at one of the mills.

Times are tough for a lot of people, but it is hard for me to tell you just how inspired I get when I see so many good people looking out for each other and working for a common goal. You are what keeps me going and the reason I have enjoyed touring the district so much.

Please, keep up the great work and be positive. I look forward to seeing you on the campaign trail soon.

20th Leg District changes meeting date

The Chair of the 20th Legislative District, Jeff Cash, has announced a change in meeting time for district meetings.

The district had been meeting the second Tuesday each month but will not meet on the second Monday each month, Cash said. District meetings are held at the King Solomon Restaurant, Centralia, at 6 p.m.

• The Sen. Patty Murray campaign visited Lewis County Democratic headquarters on March 23. Deanna Zieske, campaign chair for Lewis County, is in the process of organizing the campaign locally. Leave your name/phone at headquarters if you wish to work on the Murray campaign. Democrat Chris Mahre of Kelso has announced his candidacy for Pos. No. 1 in the 18th Legislative District, currently held by Tom Mielke. The Central Committee is looking forward to interviewing Chris. Look for an article in our next Demogram.
